

TRASHEDWORLD BULLETIN 01

Hi everyone! Welcome to our first TrashedWorld bulletin. Our aim is to give you all some key ideas in using the site and resources and help build our community.

Keith Kelly (Nov 29th 2016)

Media

Get students to vary how they present results of trash research.

- Make a great PPT slideshow
- Share your students' investigation sheets
- Get your students making short investigative video clips to share
- Share photos to create a trash gallery
- Interview key people in the community with smartphone audio recording technology
- Set up your own blog/website to share your trash investigations Students' work
- Send us your students' work and we'll publish the best on the TrashedWorld website (trashedworld@gmail.com).

TrashedWorld News

Since introducing a blanket 5p for plastic carrier bags, usage of the bags dropped by 85% within the first month!

Certificates

Once you've done some investigation work, download the programme certificate from the site to present to your TrashedWorld warriors in recognition of their work.

Finding partners

While you can find partners in our database of over 150 schools around the world, do use your own networks to find partners too.

- The Forum for Across the Curriculum Teaching (FACTWorld - www.factworld.info) has over 3500 teachers all interested in curriculum-themed project work, join (factworld@yahoogroups.com) and post there.
- ELTeCS (The English Language Teaching Contacts Scheme) is a global network of teachers roughly organised in continental zones
- eTwinning offers an online community of schools in Europe
- Try Facebook groups such as ZeroWaste, or Science Across the World to find TrashedWorld partners

Don't forget to let us know if you find other great networks!

Video bulletin

There's also a short clip covering ideas on the site you can watch to get you started!

Subscribe now for a special offer!

Subscription normally costs EU10.00 for a year. If you are currently registered on or before the date of this bulletin, and decide to subscribe now, we'll automatically extend the period for a second year free of charge!