

Hello dear friends. Welcome to bulletin number 4 for TrashedWorld. This bulletin brings you an important announcement about our programme! Keith Kelly (May 03rd 2017)

ELTons -

To celebrate our nomination for an ELTons award, we are offering subscriptions free to the programme!

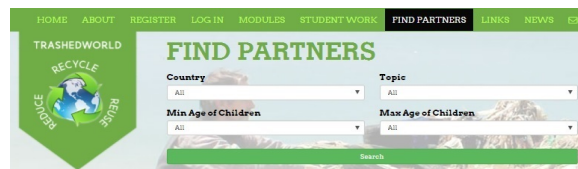

- If you register between now and June 14th, you will automatically receive a free year's subscription.
- If you are already registered, your registration will automatically be 'upgraded' to a year's subscription.
- If you've already subscribed, your subscription will be extended for a further 12 months.

Please spread the word and help us grow and celebrate our ELTons award nomination!

Finding and working with partners -

We recognize there is a challenge in finding partners for exchanging student work and seeing how things work in other countries. So, here are some ideas for finding partners:

- Search for partners in the TrashedWorld website:

Aleksandra Zaparucha (POLAND) Hits: 57	write a personal message	write a message
Alexandra Zakharova (FRANCE) Hits: 14
Alison McNulty (JORDAN) Hits: 15		write a message

- Write messages directly to participants (NB - note that not all colleagues have the option 'write a message' by their name!)

- Write to TrashedWorld @ googlegroups saying who and where you are, asking for exchange partners.
- Write to FACTWorld @ yahoogroups to cast your net wider with the same request. You don't have to be active in these groups, but it's a good place to ask for partners!
- Use other networks, use your own social and professional networks to find school partners to work with.
- Email us if all else fails - trashedworld@gmail.com. We may be able to put you in touch with a partner school to exchange with.

If you are successful finding a partners, tell us about it, and send us your students' work please! Best regards, Keith
